MILLION AIR PREPARES TO ADD NEW LOCATION IN AUSTIN, TEXAS

HOUSTON, TEXAS November 2015 – Million Air announces its expansion into Austin, Texas with a brand new FBO facility that will be located at the Austin-Bergstrom International Airport (KAUS) making it the 4th location for Texas.

Groundbreaking of the 20.1 acre complex will begin in 2016. The development is ideally situated in the capital of Texas and serving the Greater Austin metropolitan area, Million Air Austin will be located just 5 miles (8 km) southeast of Downtown Austin. The venture is a collaborative effort between developer Austin FBO LLC and Million Air.

“Beyond a cutting-edge facility, world class service was of paramount importance which led us to partner with Million Air,” says Blake Byram, CEO of Austin FBO LLC. “Austin is long overdue for a world class FBO facility set-up to receive business and entertainment guests from the four corners of the world.”

The aviation center will include a state-of-the-art and high-design 17,000 square-foot general aviation terminal, 42,000 square-foot service facilities and short-term aircraft lease space, 82,000 square-feet of private long-term lease hangars, a 6,750 square foot aircraft porte-cochere, and over 7 acres of expansive ramp space capable of supporting any aircraft type. The complex will also include five long-term lease hangars ranging in size from 15,600 to 18,750 square-feet, each are a stand-alone facility, with independent parking and entries, and are able to be customized for the tenant’s finish out requirements and vision. The private hangars will be a unique offering at Austin-Bergstrom, where limited private hangars exist, with each capable of housing up to a G550 aircraft. The center will be easily accessible from both taxiway Mike and General Aviation Drive. Inside the new general aviation terminal you will find a generous and well-appointed passenger lounge, private club, pilot lounge, a state-of-the-art flight planning room, and multi-media conference rooms serviced with Million Air’s concierge approach to fine service.

“We believe in Austin and its growth into a top national and international business and entertainment destination,” said Roger Woolsey, CEO of Million Air. “This location will afford our clients ease of travel, un-congested ground movement and the care and service that is the hallmark of Million Air. We are excited to be the new front door to Austin for the many visitors coming to the Circuit of the Americas for the finest world-class motorsports and entertainment in the United States, the University of Texas, the X Games, SXSW, Austin City Limits, and the Texas State Capitol.”
